BIGBYTE.CC CORP ANNOUNCES LAUNCH OF PUEBLO OF JEMEZ SOVEREIGN NETWORK

March 5, 2021

bigbyte.cc Corp is a compliance driven, continuity campus and data center in Albuquerque, New Mexico. Uniquely positioned in the Innovation Corridor, bigbyte.cc enables technological platforms to connect to multiple carriers, providers, and support infrastructures while ensuring 100% availability backed by guarantees. This unique facility is the new home to the sovereign network of the Pueblo of Jemez, which is launches this week.

"The Pueblo of Jemez has worked diligently to develop the Jemez Pueblo Tribal Network to provide Broadband – high speed connectivity through fiber optic connections and wireless networks to ensure our people have the tools necessary to address pandemic issues and pursue future educational & career opportunities." Governor Michael Toledo Jr., Pueblo of Jemez Bigbyte.cc Corp continues to support the work of the Middle Rio Grande Pueblo Tribal Consortium (MRGTPC), which led to its association with the tribally owned Pueblo of Jemez Network. During the association with MRGPTC, bigbyte.cc fostered a relationship with i9 Technologies to assist the MRGPTC to continue to unite groups behind the endeavors of the Pueblos. Now with the Jemez sovereign network connecting its own people and locating at bigbyte.cc Corp's facility, there is continued plans for growth and next generation technologies to be enabled across tribal lands.

Arthur Heffern, Founder of i9 technologies further describes the efforts launching this week: "i9 Technologies has been delighted to assist the Pueblo of Jemez by guiding and participating in the management, engineering and deployment of the Pueblo's first- and last- mile broadband Internet infrastructure efforts. It is a fantastic achievement for the Pueblo of Jemez to not only bring incredible Internet connectivity to their government and community, but at such a scale not available to the Pueblo in the past."

Bigbyte.cc Corp has provided free training space for the Santa Fe Indian School's team to learn additional technologies from other bigbyte.cc Corp tenants. Team training space has also been made available for the Pueblo of Jemez during their network roll out and turn up phases bigbyte.cc's anticipates continued training and equipping of native peoples to work remotely for any high tech endeavor from network operation centers to visual effects, connected on their own tribal lands.

Bigbyte remains a resource and partner in innovation, community, and facilities. bigbyte.cc Corp will find the most cost efficient manner in which to enable the tribally owned networks within its facility, which is a location where tribally owned network may choose their own internet provider as well as managed service providers and connect their nations' networks.
